

John Clark is a member of the Legal Department of Wells Fargo Bank where he is Senior Company Counsel and a Senior Vice President. Mr. Clark has over 30 years' experience as a real estate transactional lawyer, with particular expertise in the leasing of retail and office space and the purchase and sale of commercial properties. Mr. Clark provides legal counsel to Wells Fargo's Corporate Properties department which manages all of the real estate, both owned and leased, used by the Bank to conduct its business, such as bank branches, ATMs, loan offices, cash vaults, and administrative offices. Mr. Clark received his Bachelor of Arts and law degrees from the University of California, Berkeley.