RELEASE FORM

DearContributor:

TheLos Angeles County Bar Association (LACBA), through Los Angeles Lawyer (LAL), ocasionally receives requests for reprints of its articles. Additionally, LAL has the opportunity to make its articles accessible to the legal community through, among other things, commercial online database service providers, as well as other electronic publication and distribution mechanisms. Accordingly, LACBA will make articles appearing in LAL available, with or without charge, on the Internet or its Web site, or through other computer online services or electronic media or other means.

In order that this be carried out with a minimum of administrative effort and delay, LAL requires, as a condition of publication, that authors who submit articles to LAL for publication in the magazine also grant to LACBA the right to reproduce and use the articles in electronic and other forms including, but not limited to, computer online services, and through other electronic media and distribution mechanisms. LAL therefore requests from authors the following rights in perpetuity for any article submitted to LAL that is published in print form in its magazine: first publication rights; reprint/republication rights in all media; and nonexclusive electronic and other publishing, reproduction, and distribution rights in all media. This will not affect the author’s right to the full use of the article elsewhere after publication in LAL.

RELEASE

I grant first publication rights to LACBA for the article identified below that I am submitting for publication in LAL. I also grant permission to LACBA in perpetuity to republish and distribute in all media now or developed in the future the article that I am submitting to LAL separate and apart from its publication in LAL magazine.

Further, I grant full and complete, yet nonexclusive, universal publishing rights in all media, including without limitation the right to publish electronically, as well as the right to reproduce and distribute on electronic and other media, whether individually or as a collection, to LACBA for the article I am submitting to LAL that is published in print form in LAL magazine.
