CEO Sally Suchil Announces Her Resignation from the Los Angeles County Bar Association

LOS ANGELES – NOVEMBER 17, 2016 – Sally Suchil announced her resignation as Chief Executive Officer of the Los Angeles County Bar Association (LACBA) effective January 13, 2017. Ms. Suchil will work with staff and volunteers during this transition period.

President Margaret P. Stevens commented, “It is with regret that we accept Sally’s resignation. She brought a much-needed business perspective to LACBA when she started in 2009, stepping into a challenging situation at our bar association immediately after the recession. She has worked tirelessly to move LACBA forward, and we have all benefitted from her business background and hands-on approach to helping reorganize staff and resources. She will be greatly missed.”

“Serving as LACBA’s CEO has been one of the most challenging and rewarding positions that I have ever had the pleasure of holding,” Ms. Suchil said. “I am immensely proud of the work I have accomplished at LACBA. I’ve truly enjoyed working side-by-side with LACBA staff and volunteers. While it has not always been easy, the things we’ve done to improve and upgrade LACBA’s operations, technology, website and the merger resulting in Counsel for Justice, among other things, are achievements we can all be proud of.

Adding, “This was not an easy decision. It has been something I’ve been thinking about for some time and discussed with Margaret, who asked me to stay on as she took over the presidency. I felt now was the right time to leave LACBA in order to pursue other interests that I have put off for a number of years. I look forward to seeing LACBA’s continued success.”

Ms. Stevens will appoint a search committee and will retain an executive search consultant immediately.
